

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to methods of identifying agents which modulate the activity of PIPKIγ661.

5 Methods of using such agents to prevent or treat a cell migration-mediated condition or disease in a subject are also provided.